

Seven Injured In Car Crashes Over Weekend

San Francisco Doctors, Nurse Hit Tree At Tahoe

Charges of driving without due caution and being on the wrong side of the highway were filed against Peter Spase, Reno, following a collision a quarter of a mile east of Farad Monday night at 5:30 o'clock.

Spase was taken to a Reno hospital with what is thought to be a broken back after his car crashed into one driven by Edwin A. Lewis, 31, Stockton. State Patrolman William Gautsche said evidence was that Spase skidded and was on the wrong side of the highway. Lewis said he had pulled to the right as far as possible to avoid the collision and was stopped.

Lewis' three-year-old son suffered a head injury and Lewis had a sprained shoulder. Mrs. Lewis was not hurt. All of the injured were taken to a Reno hospital by the Truckee ambulance after first aid on the spot was given by Elmer Hanson of the first aid station at Farad.

Doctors Hurt

Three doctors from St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco and a nurse, Marilyn Perkins, 25, were injured and all were hospitalized after a car driven by Dr. Richard H. Marquette, 24, skidded and crashed into a tree near Carnelian Bay Monday morning at 2 a.m. Deputy Sheriff H. E. Brooks of Kings Beach was near the spot at the time and gave assistance and aided in getting the injured to Dr. John Keys' Tahoe Clinic. They were later taken to a Reno hospital.

Brooks said all were injured about the head but none seemed in serious condition.

POWER WORKER HAS CLOSE CALL ON HOME WORK

In his capacity as line foreman for the Sierra Pacific Power Company, Robert Tonini daily comes in contact with high-tension electric equipment but New Year's Eve, while making a minor repair on his water system at home, Tonini came as near being electrocuted as he has ever been or ever cares to be.

The Truckee man had disconnected a water pipe in his basement on which the building's electricity was grounded. In attempting to reconnect the pipes, he found himself firmly fastened to the pipes as a huge volume of electricity poured through his body. Retaining consciousness, Tonini struggled to free himself while he heard the current hissing through his arms and legs. His cries for aid were not heard but finally he felt his right hand slipping along the pipe and making a final effort, pulled it loose.

"I was knocked out once while working on a pole," Tonini said, "but this was the closest call I have ever had in my years of experience with electricity."

Truckee Man 50 Years In Chicken Business In Feb.

When any individual stays in one business for 50 years it's worth a story, but when a man can stay in the chicken business in Truckee for that period of time—and make it a real success—that's worth national acclaim.

Such a man is Frank F. Kearney, veteran local poultryman, who operates a chicken farm just east of here, on the same location he established for his thriving enterprise in February, 1900.

It has not been all easy going and many a man with less fortitude than Mr. Kearney would have abandoned the project years ago. With little knowledge of the business but with a tenacious idea and a strong will to succeed, Mr. Kearney gave up his railroad career to engage in the difficult endeavor.

In a country where the temperature drops to as low as 40 degrees below zero and where all chicken feed must be shipped in; where deep snow covers the ground for months at a time, one would never expect to encounter a chicken farm, but the success which has followed the Truckee man's dream has borne evidence of the old adage that "there's a will, there's a way."

There have been many times, Mr. Kearney admits, when the future looked grim indeed. Experiment after experiment went into the business. Various untried methods were employed, a variety of winter diets tested, numerous battles with predatory rodents and birds fought and that meant work—hard work and long hours, many of them at night—but with a large family to feed and during less prosperous times, Mr. and Mrs. Kearney proved their point and the results testify that those long, difficult years were not spent in vain. The big family was raised well and well educated—and fortunes were made and spent as this devoted couple proved beyond any doubt that true faith and hard work can overcome hazards that would certainly baffle many others.

For their half century of patient work against terrific odds, we salute Mr. and Mrs. Kearney for a job well done.

District To Ask Federal Aid In Donner Project

Water Supply System's Cost Is Estimated At $45,000

Directors of the Truckee Public Utility District met with Dean S. Kingman, a member of the engineering firm of L. Cedric Macabee of Palo Alto, at their meeting last week and discussed a verbal report by Kingman relative to a water system for the Donner Lake area.

A water distribution system to serve the subdivisions of Donner Ski Haven, Donner Woods Nos. 1 and 2 and Donner Lake Villa Tract, comprising approximately 300 parcels of land at the west end of the lake, was given considerable discussion. It was estimated that it would require a sum of approximately $45,000 to construct a system that would guarantee an ample supply for present and future needs of this portion of the lake.

Kingman outlined methods of financing such a project from that of general obligation bonds under a bond election to that of forming a local assessment district of the area to be served. Inasmuch as no representative of the Donner Lake Company or residents of the area were present, it was decided to have Kingman present a written report covering the preliminary engineering work involved and suggestions for financing such a system for consideration at a future meeting.

Since much legal and engineering work is necessary in constructing and financing such a project, all of which takes considerable time, the directors are anxious to come to an early decision so that the work may be undertaken this coming summer.

To provide for financing the planning of this work the directors passed a resolution giving Manager C. Edmunds authority to make an application in the name of the utility district to the Bureau of Community Facilities for federal aid and the necessary data covering such an application is now being gathered by Kingman. Such aid, if granted, must be paid back as soon as construction work is undertaken.

Antique Bead Work is Shown at Heller's

Mrs. Charles Heller this week is displaying two antique items of ornate early American bead work. They are on view in the east window of Heller's Variety and include a beaded pin cushion cover and a jewel box, both around 200 years old. They have been handed down through several generations of the local woman's family.

An article in the January Good Housekeeping magazine is devoted to the art of bead work and a movement to revive it as an American art.

TRUCKEE TOPS RENO "A" SQUAD IN TIGHT GAME

In what proved to be the most exciting game of this early season of basketball, the Truckee Legion team last night edged the Ready-Mix Class A Club of Reno.

The score saw-sawed throughout the game, the tally being tied at the half at 27-27 with Jack Pringle of Reno accounting for 19 points and Al Wakefield of Truckee chalking up 11.

With three minutes of playing time remaining and the score at 42-41 in favor of the locals, the Truckee hoopsters scored three quick buckets to put the game on ice. The final score was 50 to 43.

The Truckee Legion team now has seven consecutive victories after losing only the season's opener.

The Truckee squad has been strengthened by the return this week of Jimmy Flynn of Sierra Valley.

Their next game here will be played against the highly regarded Stag Inn of Reno Saturday night at 8 p.m. Monday night they travel to Portola and on the 11th will host a return game for the Plumas County outfit.

Tahoe Biltmore Judged As Bankrupt in Carson

CARSON CITY—The Tahoe Biltmore, resort hotel at Lake Tahoe, was adjudged bankrupt in federal court by Judge Roger Foley.

Nathan Bloomingfield, president of the corporation which operated the property, listed assets at $554,623 and liabilities at $884,159. Further proceedings will be referred to Frank W. Ingram of Reno, referee in bankruptcy for Nevada.

The hotel was opened in 1948 after a long and costly construction period during which many legal actions were filed and the project got into trouble with federal agencies over priority matters.

Better—Jasper Archie is improving following a recent illness.

Sportsmen Will Recommend No Change In Laws

Representatives To Seek Stream Improvement From Board

Seasons and bag limits for fish and game in this district this year will be the same as during 1949 if recommendations of the Truckee Outdoor Sportsmen are approved by the state fish and game commission.

Directors of the club met here Friday evening to discuss recommendations which will be considered at the meeting of the commission in San Francisco tomorrow. Definite action on the proposals will be taken at the Los Angeles meeting of the fish and game board during March.

H. H. Hodson, president of the local club, said that although an invitation was extended to all sportsmen to meet with the directors and discuss plans for the year, no one showed up but directors and taking this as approval of existing laws, the board did not propose any changes for 1950.

However, it was recommended to the commission that a survey be made of the Truckee River basin with an aim for making any possible improvements such as stream flow regulations, check dams, increased planting and other details which might result in making the stream better for fishing.

Hodson said he had been advised that a move is on foot to open the river late in April but the local club does not favor this plan.

Clarence Osburn, vice president of the local club, and C. W. Vernon of Tahoe City, a director, will represent the Truckee organization at the Los Angeles meeting, their attendance at the San Francisco session being unnecessary, Hodson said. H. E. Brooks of Kings Beach will represent the Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce at the same session.

The Los Angeles meeting will determine seasons and limits on both fish and game this year.

TAHOE KOKANEE PROGRAM STARTS. EGGS RECEIVED

Allan Pollitt, superintendent of the state fish hatcheries at Lake Tahoe, this week revealed that the initial shipment of 550,000 Kokanee salmon eggs were received from Sand Point, Idaho, to inaugurate a plan for stocking Lake Tahoe with Kokanee. The stocking program is expected to be carried on over a four-year period at the rate of 700,000 annually.

The state of Nevada is cooperating with California, furnishing the Washoe County hatchery in Idylwild Park for the purpose of hatching and rearing a portion of the Kokanee allotments. The balance will be taken care of by the Tahoe Hatchery.

Meanwhile, the Kokanee program at Donner Lake, which has proved successful over the past five years, will be continued, Pollitt said.

Supervisors Put Off Action on Airport Bid

The Nevada County board of supervisors at their January meeting declined to take action on a proposal that the county finance the purchase of the Errol MacBoyle airport at Loma Rica Ranch between Nevada City and Grass Valley. The price, according to Supervisor H. G. Loehr, is approximately $45,000.

Loehr suggested that the matter be left alone until such a time as the board can consider a county-wide airport project.

Mayor Gilbert Cramer of Grass Valley was the chief supporter of the plan to purchase the port. Si Sogge, Nevada City councilman, pointed out that there is at present an adequate airport, privately operated, near Nevada City which is sufficient for current needs. The matter may come before the board again next month, Loehr said.

CALL THEM MACs FOR SHORT-1:

Peace—It's Fine for Holy Land Crops

By a Special U.N. Correspondent

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article by a United Nations correspondent in Palestine is the first of a series, telling the little-known story of the Mixed Armistice Commissions [MACs] set up under U.N. auspices to help keep peace in the Holy Land.)

HAIFA, Israel—"The trouble with peace is that it doesn't make headlines..."

"No, it's no good for headlines, but it's good for crops, anyway..."

That scrap of conversation between Israeli and Egyptian army officers was recorded by this reporter at El Auja, a former customs post between Palestine and Egypt, far south of here in the desert.

A year ago, when El Auja was the site of a fierce battle between Israeli and Egyptian troops, it was in the headlines the world over. Today, the only battles at El Auja are the daily horseshoe pitching competitions—the sole recreation available between sessions of the Egyptian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission, which has its headquarters there.

The Mixed Armistice Commissions—everyone calls them MACs for short—have become in a quiet, unobtrusive way the symbols of the present-day peace in the Holy Land.

The MACs have brought back to their homes thousands of Arab and Jewish prisoners, both military and civilian. The MACs have helped destroy hundreds of dangerous mines, left over from the recent fighting—including a three-ton, monster land mine right in the center of Jerusalem. The MACs are making it possible for Arabs and Jews to plow their lands and graze their cattle in areas that only yesterday were "no-man's lands," out-of-bounds for Arabs and Jews alike; the MACs find missing persons and missing steamrollers and stolen or lost camels and cows; and the MACs replace the fighting lines of yesterday with today's peaceful demarcation lines.

In short, the MACs work stubbornly to clear up the mess left behind by the Palestine war.

Altogether, there are four MACs to bear the main burden of practical peacemaking in the Holy Land. They were set up under the armistice agreements concluded last spring and summer between Israel and four of her Arab neighbors: Egypt, Lebanon, the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan and Syria. Each MAC is made up of two or three Israeli and two or three Arab representatives, plus a United Nations chairman. The latter is appointed by the Chief of Staff of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization in Palestine, Brigadier-General William E. Riley, whose headquarters are here. Each chairman is assisted by a small staff of American, Belgian and French officers from General Riley's U.N. observer group, now comprising 36 officers and 40 enlisted men, including an aircrew of 18 to operate three white painted U.N. planes.

Practical Peacemaking in Palestine

Members of the Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission—MAC for short—iron out a demarcation line problem on the spot in the Palestine desert. The MAC is one of four set up under the United Nations-sponsored armistice agreements between Israel and her neighbors—Egypt, the Kingdom of Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

With three day holidays hitting the area twice within the holiday season, with the first of it as warm as a Palm Springs chamber of commerce ad and the second three ending in a blizzard and the minimum temperature recorded as 14 degrees below, as we ran the gamut in weather, so did we in holiday business and fun. Somewhere in the melee Betty Horak managed to throw a two year old birthday for Johnnie jumper; Betty Aro found her way back to the mountain proudly packing Lynn Christine; Margaret Merrill looking fit as a fiddle
parks David in his new crib;
while Barbara Zorich hies herself to Sacramento to await the last of the three new babes that we feted in October at a triple shower. From the Big Bend area comes word that Gia Hilburn, Betty Horak and Nadine Neugebauer. The latter two of Soda Springs, all will become mamas

in the spring.

The Mountain had its usual good time o'er Christmas and New Year. It seemed that half the world helped participate.
Ernie Nordstrum opened up as usual at Midnight New Year's Eve. With the Alpineers, the Oakland Ski Club and the Vikings in his back yard, his side yard and completely surrounding him, the line up was a long one awaiting the turning of the key in the door. Soda Springs Hotel welcomed the New Year with hats, noisemakers, folk dancers and a grand midnight snack. Eleanor Johanson and Gladys Pedley, the two desk charmers, assisted Paul Norboe in the serving thereof, with Muriel and Dennis Jones hostessing and hosting. At Beacon Hill Lodge, Elmo Moriano put away his wooden hobby horses to make room for guests.
Digressing a bit, these intriguing wooden animals with their fascinating mechanism are a challenge to anyone who enters the rumpus room. We don't know what makes them operate and so far we have seen but one real master of these wooden bucking broncos and that one Elmo's sister Evelyn. The innocent look in their painted eyes fools you. Sit firmly, put your feet in the stirrups and attempt to use the rocking motion that makes them go—and their back legs kick up, resulting either in a pitch over the head of these miniature Trojan horses or a good sit on the floor.

Attempting to enter Donner Summit Lodge would have taken a good greasing, plus a shoe horn, so we gave up. As we peeked through the window we could see the good timers sitting on the steps that lead to the lobby while the cocktail lounge was one seething mass of humanity.

Hear that Rainbow Tavern went all out too and a wonderful time kept all of their guests close to home.

Everyone who had an extra bed had a relative or a friend in it over this past weekend. Eleanor Johanson slept Nan Liebert, the Beachs had a full house, the Sherritts had Nadine Sudy in their spare bedroom and the Walter Clark family of San Fran-in the extra bedrooms on the first floor. We had Ellen Flynn and Doris Madison of San Francisco;
the Ralph Rowtons entertained Larry and Marge Rowton and Fred Merton of the Bay Area and the Peninsula; the Paul Proms' lovely "beach home" on the river was bulging with Sacramento guests. The Bud Waltons had an informal party at their new chalet on the summit and also hear of a grand opening of this new place within a short time. Day and Ernie Tschopp, now living in Bill Rutherford's guest house, accomodating Ralph DeMonte and several of the older ski crowd. Betty Vincencio of Sitzski Lodge at Cisco reports not only a very wonderful New Year for this, Tom and Betty's first year in the ski business, but also reports a completely booked week previous thereto. The Gymkana Club of Hillsborough was the group that frolicked on the Cisco Ski Hill.

To top it off, the power went on Monday right in the middle of this week's blizzard. Those fortunate enough to get a seat on Soda Springs double chair lift found themselves suspended in mid-air as the juice quit. Thanks to the quick thinking of Ski Pat-roller Bill Cameron and Milt Hogle, the chairs were emptied in jig time via rope ladders. The ones descending from their lofty perch in this manner enjoyed the thrill of this emergency as much as they did the ride. Never have seen such crowds as were on the Soda Springs Hill. With its north protected slope, it still had snow good enough for the good skier which the hot sun of the week following Christmas dented but slightly.

Wanda Misener, John D'Arcy
and his mother Thelma labored long and hard in their Snowflake coffee shop with Wanda finishing off the three day shift by burning her foot badly. Hot coffee in her snow boot took the skin from the bottom her foot.

In Beacon's dining room we saw Florence Strand and Eileen Pugh really racing to take care of the crowd while Soda Springs new waitress Dorothy Liebes efficiently took care of the crowded dining room there. Eve Donadio and Maude Howard made tracks in the Donner Summit Lodge dining room, having to close the doors to guests between servings so busy were they.

Frozen cars were parked along the highway while their owners ventured out between blizzards, limped and puffed into the garages while they awaited the return of power, which also means water in this country, to thaw out their radiators. Milk, butter and bread were at a premium as the various hotels and coffee shop quickly ran out of supplies with the record breaking crowds.

Ski clubs newly established in the area made up a good 50 percent of the unprecedented throng.
Marin Skate & Ski, Santa Cruz, San Jose, Lone Mountain, San Francisco Rams, Sitzmark, U.C., Sierra, Vikings, Alpineers, Oak-landers, College of Holy Names, Armstrong Business College and Lord knows how many more,
have rented every available nook and cranny to take care of their various numbers, with at least five more large clubs from Sacramento, Stockton and the Bay Area clamouring for housing. Hotels booked far in advance have made this type of housing necessary. We think we can truthfully say that this will be one of the greatest ski years ever.

At the foot of the Summit grade we hear that Donner Lake Lodge held forth with a wonderful party. We were about to try to at least peek into all the various places so as to give you the high lights but when we, on pleasure bent, stepped out of our front door late on New Year's Eve, we found our trusty truck firmly bedded down for the night due to the parking hogs who had really hemmed us in, locked their cars and left. We took our pil-

Red Cross Problems In Truckee

by Keif D. Melberg, Chairman, Nevada City Chapter

The Nevada City Chapter, American Red Cross, feels at this time that the citizens of Truckee should be informed of what effort has been made to establish Red Cross services in Truckee.

It should first be pointed out that the Truckee area has been designated as a branch of the Nevada City Chapter and is responsible in every respect to the parent chapter in matters of policy and general activity except that the branch does have its own officers and is perfectly free to act within the policy limitations imposed by the national and local organizations once such policies are established and agreed upon.

Complaint Registered

About a year ago the Nevada City Chapter received a complaint from one of the Truckee service organizations that the American Red Cross was not meeting its obligation in the Truckee area. As a result of this letter several members of the Nevada City Chapter and a representative from the San Francisco area office spent an entire day in Truckee interviewing many of its citizens in an effort to find individuals who would be interested enough to give of their time to help organize the branch.

There was general agreement among those interviewed that the services would be welcome but no volunteers to do anything about it. The following day the area representative returned to Truckee and finally succeeded in interesting several individuals who through diligent effort did succeed in organizing a small group and elected the officers of chairman, secretary, disaster chairman, home service secretary and two committee members.

Home Service Key

In most chapters home service is the most important unit as it is that department which extends financial assistance. Consequently when home service breaks down, the balance of chapter services usually fall with it. This appears to be what has happened in Truckee.

The history of the Red Cross in Truckee seems to point up the need for a better understanding by the public as to what Red Cross can and cannot do, as all those who have tried to serve as home service secretary in the past is have the same complaint and that is the public has consistently referred every transient to Red Cross with the natural result that each secretary has been plagued with unnecessary callers at all hours of the day and night and finally resigned in self-defense.

No Transient Aid

The public must realize that the Red Cross is not a national relief organization for the purpose of extending relief to all transients on the road. All relief agencies object to extending that type of assistance for several very good reasons. All citizens have a legal residence somewhere and it is the legal obligation of the county and state where they have such residence to grant financial assistance. If the individual cannot become self-supporting in the area of his residence but can prove to his local authorities that he has a positive plan for employment or self-support at some distant location, the authorities will in most instances assist in making necessary arrangements for his rehabilitation so that there will be no need for soliciting aid from each community en route to the new location. The granting of financial assistance to people on the road will only encourage more people to take to the road and throw themselves on the mercy of each community through which they pass. If it is known that they cannot expect such help, there will be that much less transient movement for each community to cope with.

The funds solicited by the Red Cross each year are supposed to be available in the local community for local people.

Armed Forces First

The home service unit of Red Cross functions primarily for the U. S. Armed Forces and their families—this is the first responsibility according to Congressional charter. However, each chapter may expand this policy, in a limited way, to meet other requirements peculiar to a local community. The disaster unit of Red Cross acts in behalf of all when disaster strikes.

As a result of the above summary, it is hoped that a home service committee can be organized in Truckee to decide on what policy should be followed—then to acquaint the citizens with that policy and lastly to secure the services of someone to serve as home service secretary to administer aid in accord with the established policy.

Lake Tahoe Ski Club Plan Sanctioned Tournament

TAHOE CITY—The Lake Tahoe Ski Club began working out the details of the FWSA sanctioned ski meet scheduled here for the last weekend in January at their weekly meeting Friday, December 30. Complete details as to which events are to be held on which days, the time set for each event, housing arrangements and other information will be released shortly. Events planned include jumping, cross-country and giant slalom.

A work party was formed to get the rope tow on the Olympic jump hill into working order.

The next meeting, scheduled on Friday, January 6, will be centered about the tournament preparations.

Low Water in Truckee Is Explained By Tahoe Weather Man

TAHOE CITY—For residents along the Truckee River who are wondering why the water has suddenly dropped, Arthur Frodenberg, U.S. Weather Bureau officer at Tahoe City, has given partial explanation.

With the seasonal precipitation sporadic and consisting of dry snow (low water content), the level of Lake Tahoe has continued to drop. This week, another tenth of a foot below last week and standing at 6223.40 feet, the lake is so low, the outlet rim is almost dry. The Truckee River at Tahoe City, consequently, shows almost no perceptible movement. In fact, with the recent heavy southwest winds, the water has the appearance of running into lake. Actual discharge dropped from 33 cubic second feet January 1 to 10 cubic second feet on January 2.

Between December 26 and January 2 there were five clear days, two days (Dec. 30 and 31) partly cloudy and one day of snow. Beginning shortly after midnight on January 1, the new snow measured 7 inches (.25 of an inch water content) at 8 a.m. January 2 and brought the total standing snow up to 18 inches. The snow continued to fall until Monday evening but with diminishing effect, the additional fall probably less than four or five inches.

Temperatures between the 26th and the 2nd were higher than those of the preceding week:

150 Enjoy Showing of Ski Movies at Inn by Dr. Howard on 29th

TAHOE CITY—An estimated crowd of 150, including Tahoe Inn residents, Lake Tahoe Ski Club members and guests, enjoyed the excellent ski pictures taken and projected by Dr. Frank Howard of San Rafael.

Shown at Tahoe Inn Thursday evening, December 29, the technical color pictures covered a wide range of well known ski regions. The first reel, taken at the Sugar Bowl on nearby Donner Summit, featured Bill Klein in ski techniques. The second reel, more of a ski travelogue, included shots of Sun Valley, Aspen, Mt. Rose, Sugar Bowl and other places.

Dr. Howard, who with his family was spending several days in Tahoe City during the year-end holidays, is recognized as one of the nation's leading photographers of ski sports.

TAHOE CITY RECORDS HAPPY HOLIDAYS

TAHOE CITY—Tahoe City residents enjoyed the Christmas and New Year holidays in spite of icy road conditions, new snow fall and New Year revelry. No accidents were reported locally and no arrests were made for serious disturbance of the peace.

Alpha! 1950!
And what a wonderful beginning it is! There were so many open houses on the north end of Tahoe that it is too much to ask of anyone to name them all.

Dolores Rood gave a party for the young folks on New Year's Eve that proved an outstanding success. The Bud Englishs held open house during afternoon and evening of the outgoing year with Unadell Crawford as co-hostess. There was a grand party at Leo Marthaller's White House by the Lake on the first day of the year.

A birthday dinner for Carl Sorensen was enjoyed by members of the family at the home of his brother Andy on December 31. These parties are traditional and held annually in honor of Carl's birthdate.

That birthday dinner at the Rayburns' on January 2 in honor of Johnny was also an outstanding success with Thresa Sutton assisting her sister, Gerry Rayburn, with the hostess duties.

The annual New Year's Eve party at The Burroughs was expanded this year to include many

We are happy that Mary Boyce is able to return to her classes after an accident on Granlibakken ski run where she sustained a knee injury that necessitated 14 stitches.

Henry Betz of Oakland was injured when the metal runner on a broken ski badly slashed his leg which Dr. Keys mended with ten stitches. Henry was able to walk away under his own power and we hope he will be back to ski again soon.

A trial session of class in practical English, directed by Mrs. D. C. Barnett, will be held Friday, January 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Kings Beach grammar school. Classes will be sponsored by the Tahoe Truckee School District. Evening classes in adult education are open to all adults of this district free. All interested are invited to attend.

Sharon Little had to spend most of her holiday season in bed due to a nasty cold.

Robert and Ronald Pelley of Bakersfield were guests in the Jerry Little home over Christmas holidays. Their father has worked locally for several months and has been staying with his sister Jean Little. After returning the boys to Bakersfield Pelley will return to the Lake again in the spring. Tahoe's gain is another 100 per cent booster. Pelley thinks it a grand place to live.

On December 22 Floyd and Alice Davis were called to the bedside of Floyd's father in Santa Ana. Davis Sr. rallied satisfactorily after surgery and soon up on the road to recovery. Upon their return they found those frozen pipes had burst and with a little thaw exuded water all over the place. Much damage was done the interior and what could make a person much sicker than opening the door at home on such a sight after a hard and gruelling trip down south in the smog. The Ed Dickow home was opened to the Davises while their own abode underwent renovation.

The Burroughs were honored with a visit from their juniors, the Preston McKinley Burroughs of Fallon, on New Year's day.

Alice Davis announces the re-opening of her dance classes beginning January 7.

Jean Little and Alice Davis helped out at the Mont Blanc over the holidays.

Out of town guests and locals enjoyed equally that open house on Christmas day with Clare and Helen Walters and Ike and Granny Miles as hosts and hostesses.

The help given by the entire neighborhood was so generous that our job was a complete delight and pleasure. From the heart we mean this. And particularly to children. They displayed extraordinary courtesy. I really think we cheated you kids a little because I believe we had more fun than you.

For the benefit of readers not familiar with with the ground work of our Christmas party, one or more representatives of various clubs in this area formed the North Tahoe Christmas Committee and each had a job to perform. Each did his or her work with the good old Christmas spirit, giving his best with not a grumble from a single worker. The folks who played a big part in keeping the ball rolling are Mary Abbott, PTA; Bill Dugan, VFW; Ambros Furrer, Community Sports Club; George Rutledge, Wee Kirk of the Pines; Peter Svendsen, Low 12; Florence Miles and Alice Sorensen, North Tahoe Women's Club; Ted Barrett, Carpenters' Local Union; Charles Chubb, the Kings Beach School; Mulford Miles, Brockway Rotary; Bob Dennis, photography.

Harry Johanson's dog team came, dashing in at the psychological moment bringing a sled full of Christmas stockings for all the kids. We don't know where Harry was but Santa Claus drove that team with such skill that you'd have thought it was Harry himself. Someone said that

RESOLVED!

I will do nothing to protect my rights!"

No, that isn't a pacifist's resolution! In effect, it's what 45 million citizens said when they failed to vote in our last national election.

Our rights as free citizens make up our freedom. When we fail to vote—when we dodge jury service—when we don't participate in union, stockholders' and school meetings—we are risking the loss of those rights. And that means loss of the freedom for which our forefathers gave their fortunes, their homes, their very lives.

To protect our freedom is a full-time job for all of us—150 millions of Americans. It means voting in every election, national or local; accepting jury service gladly; attending community gatherings and making our voices heard. In short, it means being a full-time citizen.

Are You A Full-Time Citizen?

Check yourself on the above activities! If you're doing your share, you're fighting for freedom.

TRUCKEE GIRL WEDS SOLDIER IN RENO RITES

Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons of Truckee have announced the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Corporal Mickey Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris, also of Truckee. The wedding was performed last Thursday at 4 p.m. at the First Methodist Church at Reno by Rev. Edward Mills and was followed by a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards in Truckee where, in true military fashion, the bride cut the wedding cake with a saber.

The bride's maid was Miss Harriett Tackett and the best man was Herman Perez. The bride wore white organdie trimmed with eyelette and white satin and wore the traditional shoulder length veil and carried a Bible covered with white carnations and streamers. The bride's maid wore blue taffeta and carried a corsage of gardenias.

Out-of-town guests were Herman Perez and Dora King of Wendell.

Saturday the young couple left for Fort Warren at Cheyenne, Wyo., where he is stationed.

Preceding the wedding, the bride-to-be was honored at a party given at the home of Mary Fisher. Guests included Marjorie Hocker, Shari Reynolds, Harriett Tackett, Eleanor Dominguez, Collette Morhain and Pat Harris.

Weekend in City—

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaiennie were bay district guests during the weekend, attending the East-West Shrine football game Saturday.
